

TOURS

FRIDAY

Monticello and Ash Lawn-Highland Excursion

9:30 a.m.–4 p.m.

Departs from Alumni Hall (211 Emmet St.)

Join Cavalier Travels for a behind-the-scenes visit to Thomas Jefferson's Monticello, the only home in America on the elite World Heritage List of UNESCO, and James Monroe's Ash Lawn-Highland, which currently serves as a historic museum, a 535-acre working farm and a performing arts site. Transportation will be provided from Alumni Hall. Lunch is included. Participation requires an additional fee of $40 per person. Space is limited; preregistration is required. Sponsored by the Cavalier Travels program.

Davenport Field Renovations Tour

Noon–1 p.m.

Davenport Field is home to the Virginia baseball team, which earned its first-ever berth in the College World

Series in 2009. Join the Virginia Athletics Foundation staff for a behind-the-scenes tour of the Davenport Field renovations. Sponsored by the Virginia Athletics Foundation. *If Virginia hosts the NCAA Regionals, the tour will be cancelled.

John Paul Jones Arena Tour

1–2 p.m.

Join the Virginia Athletics Foundation staff for a behind-the-scenes tour of the John Paul Jones Arena, home of Virginia basketball. Sponsored by the Virginia Athletics Foundation.

SATURDAY

Admission Tour

10:15–11:15 a.m.

Steps of Peabody Hall

Enjoy a student life-focused tour of Grounds led by current students. The tour will complement the Alumni Children and the Admission Process seminar offered from 9 to 10:15 a.m.

OPEN HOUSES

The Aquatic & Fitness Center

Saturday 11 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

Alumni, family and friends are invited to tour the home of Intramural-Recreational Sports and the Cavalier varsity swimming and diving teams. U.Va.'s flagship recreation facility is located just north of Scott Stadium, on the corner of Alderman and Whitehead Roads.

Jefferson Scholars Foundation

Friday 2–5 p.m. • Foundation Hall (112 Clarke Court)

An opportunity for you to stop by to learn firsthand about current foundation plans, explore the foundation's new home, and bring the foundation up to date on events in your life.

Lawn Pavilions

Saturday 3:30–4:30 p.m.

Come see the interiors of the historic pavilions on the Lawn, designed by Thomas Jefferson as part of the Academical Village.

McIntire Department of Art

Open House Exhibition: Past Meets Present VI

Friday to Sunday 9 a.m.–5 p.m.

Ruffin Hall Galleries

An exhibition on all three floors of Ruffin Hall, Past Meets Present VI will include the Richard Crozier Retirement Show, featuring landscape paintings by the recently retired professor; selected works by Crozier's students; a group exhibition showcasing alumni from the Classes of 1976, 1981, 1986, 1991, 1996, 2001 and 2006; and works by 2011/12 Aunspaugh fellowship post-baccalaureate students.

The Rotunda

Friday–Sunday 9 a.m.–4:45 p.m.

Visit the heart of Jefferson's Academical Village during your stay at the University.

Stargazing at the McCormick Observatory

Friday 9–11 p.m. • Observatory Hill

Weather permitting, visitors will view celestial objects such as Saturn through the historic 26-inch telescope.

University of Virginia Art Museum

Friday–Sunday Noon–5 p.m.

(Tours are free and available on request.)

155 Rugby Road

The museum's collection numbers more than 12,000 objects, from the ancient arts through art of the 21st century. Visit the University's fine arts museum and enjoy these special exhibitions: Excavating New Ground: American Art in the 1970s, Society Portraits: Andy Warhol's Photographic Legacy and Southern Views/Southern Photographers.

University of Virginia Library Open Houses and Exhibits

Alderman Library

Friday and Saturday 9 a.m.–5 p.m.

Re-live the past in the renovated McGregor Room (2nd floor, East Wing), take a peek into the future in the Scholars' Lab (4th floor, West Wing), and view the world around us, literally, in the new International Media Lounge. Take a walk down memory lane in the Reference Room, where Corks and Curly and the Cavalier Daily from your graduation year will be on display.

Preserving Treasures of the U.Va. Libraries

Saturday 1–3 p.m. • Preservation Services, Room 201

Whether it is for a faculty member who needs an item for a class, a student doing research in classical literature, a scholar conducting research on a fragile rare book, or staff from a University department wanting access to older audiovisual materials, Preservation Services ensures that the University Library's resources are here for today's users as well as tomorrow's.

Charles L. Brown Science and Engineering Library

Friday and Saturday 10 a.m.–6 p.m.

Be sure to explore a collection of art from recent students, faculty and visiting artists from U.Va.'s McIntire Department of Art that is located in Brown's Reading Room.

School of Nursing Building Tours

2–3:30 p.m.

McKim Hall, McLeod Hall and Claude Moore Nursing Education Building

For those who lived in McKim Hall, now part of the School of Medicine, a special tour will leave the first floor of McLeod Hall at 2 p.m. Self-guided tours of the Claude Moore Nursing Education Building and McLeod Hall will be available any time between 2 and 3:30 p.m. McLeod Hall, home to the school since the 1970s, is undergoing a total renovation. Come see the remarkable progress and tour the Clinical Simulation Learning Center and the Center for Nursing Historical Inquiry.

University of Virginia Art Museum Tour

2–3 p.m.

155 Rugby Road

Curator Matthew Affron will give a gallery talk on Society Portraits: Andy Warhol's Photographic Legacy.

Rotunda and Lawn Tours

3–4 p.m.

South Steps of the Rotunda (Lawn Side)

Learn about the University's past, present and future as current students lead tours of the Academical Village. Sponsored by the University Guide Service.

The Mary and David Harrison Institute For American History, Literature, and Culture and The Albert and Shirley Small Special Collections Library

FRIDAY and SATURDAY 9 a.m.–5 p.m.

EXHIBITS

Flowerdew Hundred: Unearthing Virginia's History

Entry Level

Visit a permanent exhibit presenting material evidence of early inhabitants: Native American pottery shards; arms and armor used to defend the new colony; refined, imported wares from Europe; and, later, American-made goods, including wares manufactured by African Americans and artifacts from the Civil War. Other materials also on display include images from 16th- and 17th-century maps and books that illustrate the importance of the historical record in the study of material culture.

Declaring Independence: Creating and Re-Creating America's Document

Declaration of Independence Gallery, 1st Floor

Explore Albert H. Small's (Engr '46) unique collection of documents relating to the Declaration of Independence. The exhibition sheds light on not only the writing and signing of the Declaration but also on its first printing, distribution across the colonies, and future impact on American history. The highlight of the exhibition is the Dunlap broadside, the very first printing of the Declaration. There are only 25 known copies in existence. An accompanying documentary film is available for viewing in the gallery.

SUNDAY

Bavaro Hall Tour

11:30 a.m.

Come explore one of the newest buildings on Grounds. Bavaro Hall, which adds nearly 65,000 square feet to the Curry School, brings integrated clinical training functions and services, academic faculty, and varied meeting spaces under one roof.

Rotunda and Lawn Tours

11:30 a.m.

South Steps of the Rotunda (Lawn Side)

Learn about the University's past, present and future as current students lead tours of the Academical Village. Sponsored by the University Guide Service.

South Lawn Tour

11:30 a.m.

Main Courtyard (enter by sidewalk near intersection of JPA and Brandon Avenue)

Visit the newest part of Grounds. The South Lawn extends south across Jefferson Park Avenue from the Lawn, and is the new home of the College of Arts & Sciences' departments of history, politics and religious studies.

Global Collections at the U.Va. Library: Engaging the World

Entry Level

What motivates or compels us to leave our homes and travel to distant lands? In particular, how do our vocations influence our interactions with foreign peoples and cultures? The U.Va. Library's international collections—reflecting the adventurous lives and passions of diplomats, soldiers, missionaries, writers, and others—offer fascinating answers. Among other items on display include original letters written by Thomas Jefferson while in France.

Students, Scholars, Leaders: The Academic Lives of the University of Virginia's Presidents

Lower Exhibition Gallery, 1st Floor

In celebration of the inauguration of Teresa A. Sullivan as the University's eighth president, the Special Collections Library presents an exhibit highlighting the scholarly and academic achievements of the eight presidents of the University of Virginia.

OPEN HOUSES

Digitization Services Lab Open House

Friday 2–4 p.m. • 1st Floor, Room 150

The library's Digitization Services department provides services for digitizing the library's rare holdings for the University community. Stop by and see the specialized equipment and software used to digitize such varied objects as rare books, manuscripts and maps.

See First-Hand History in the Special Collections Library

Saturday 10 a.m.–noon

Byrd/Morris Seminar Room, 3rd Floor

The Albert and Shirley Small Special Collections Library is home to more than 15.5 million manuscripts and pieces of archival material, 325,000 rare books, 5,000 maps and much more. See history first-hand from our foremost holdings in American history and literature, including Thomas Jefferson's papers, the records of the University, William Faulkner's literary manuscripts, and many other original documents.